

Rock, Stream, Tree

Rock, Stream, Tree is a group of conversations between a very big smart rock, a very energetic, creative stream, and a large brainy, somewhat obsessive tree. They are endangered and they know it. They try to watch out for each other, help each other, and put up with each others daily quests. They are bound by predatory people and conditions, but they are rarely beaten. They are survivors who use humor to get by and stay connected. They are fun to read about as their voices are loud and clear. The rock likes to be described as teen solid, while the stream refers to herself as mischievously gifted, and the tree said to tell you he is above it all.
